

Site Support & Security

Tailored support and security solutions; putting you in control of your site.

Our SIA-approved manned guarding and support solutions protect operatives and assets on site – with the added benefit of safeguarding the performance of Biosite systems in use. Providing the ultimate peace of mind.

Tailored support from construction to occupation

Every site is different. To meet the specific support and security needs of each set-up, Biosite provides tailored solutions in response to customer needs.

From security guards and guard dogs for 24/7 protection, to gatemen and marshals to ensure the smooth and safe running of the site or concierge staff to manage the occupation transition process, our solutions will fulfil your exact requirements.

Biosite support and security officers are also specially trained to ensure optimum performance of Biosite systems in use – providing more than just a presence on site.

Why Biosite?

Nationwide network and 24/7 support

Biosite operates a nationwide support network of specially trained and SIA approved security guards and support officers linking back to a 24/7 control room, with the option of real-time GPS tracking and reporting. Putting you in control of your site at all times.

Fully vetted and trained officers

Biosite security guards and support officers are fully licensed, vetted and SIA approved to ensure compliance. They have CSCS accreditation and health and safety training as standard, with additional training needs (such as first aid and emergency training) sourced as required.

An extension of your team

The right security guard is more than an anonymous face in the background – instead becoming integral to the running of a site as an extension of the team.

We exceed licensing requirements and only work with experienced, reliable and professional security personnel, who our customers request time and time again.

Optimum performance of Biosite systems

Biosite security guards and support officers have the added benefit of specialist training in Biosite technology-enabled solutions – maximising and protecting investment in these systems by ensuring they can be monitored and managed effectively.

Tailored solutions for each site set-up

Biosite partners with customers to tailor a solution for the specific needs of each site, including developing site-specific policies and procedures.

As part of our more connected and personal level of service, we aim to become neighbourhood advocates by reaching out to the local council, police and community groups to support the site management process.
